performing an initial frequency measurement of the target of interest via the electronic warfare aircraft;

tuning and programming a receiver in the aircraft expendables technology device based on the initial frequency measurement of the target of interest; ejecting the aircraft expendables technology device from the electronic warfare aircraft into airspace within the signal of range of the target of interest; determining a Doppler measurement set on the target of interest by the aircraft expendables technology device; and transmitting the Doppler measurement set of the target of interest from the aircraft expendables technology device to the electronic warfare aircraft.
